

Timber was floated down the Muskrat River from the early 1800s to mid 1980s. At one time, Cockburn Pointers boats guided the logs through the centre of the dam on the south side of the bridge; these joined booms on the Ottawa River en route to Montreal and Quebec, and the sawmills.

2 Muskrat River

(1 Pembroke Street East) This former Post Office was constructed by John W. Munro, a prominent contractor; architect was Thomas Fuller, designer of the library of Parliament and the original centre block. In 1958 the building was completely renovated and now houses the municipal office for the City of Pembroke.

1 Pembroke City Hall

Step Back In Time Walking Tour

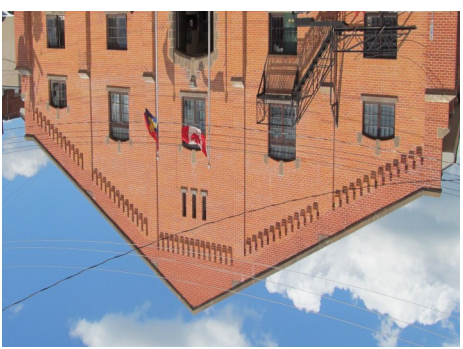

Molson as part of the City's Centennial Celebrations. It was designed by Civitan Club member Mel $100,000 to create the fountain in Coronation Park. 1967, the Civitan Club generously provided

4 Coronation Park

The original wooden bridge was replaced by a stone bridge in 1887 by James W. Munro. His tender was lower than others but he apparently cleared $5,000.00, a considerable profit then. The bridge was widened and reinforced in the 1940s, and again in 2013

3 Pembroke Street Bridge

(177 Victoria Street) This is a solid brick building -185' by 85' on a concrete foundation with hardwood floors in the Officers' Quarters and Mess Rooms as well as a huge drill hall on the main floor. It is the Regimental Headquarters for 1 Air Defense Regiment R.C.A. (Lanark & Renfrew Scottish). Built in 1914, it was used during WWI and WWII; the Armories is still used for Militia and Civic functions, and is the home of a military museum.

6 The Pembroke Armories

(39 Pembroke Street West) Built in 1909, it still remains in excellent condition. Note the decorative, smooth pink marble that borders the entrance.

5 James F. Munro Block

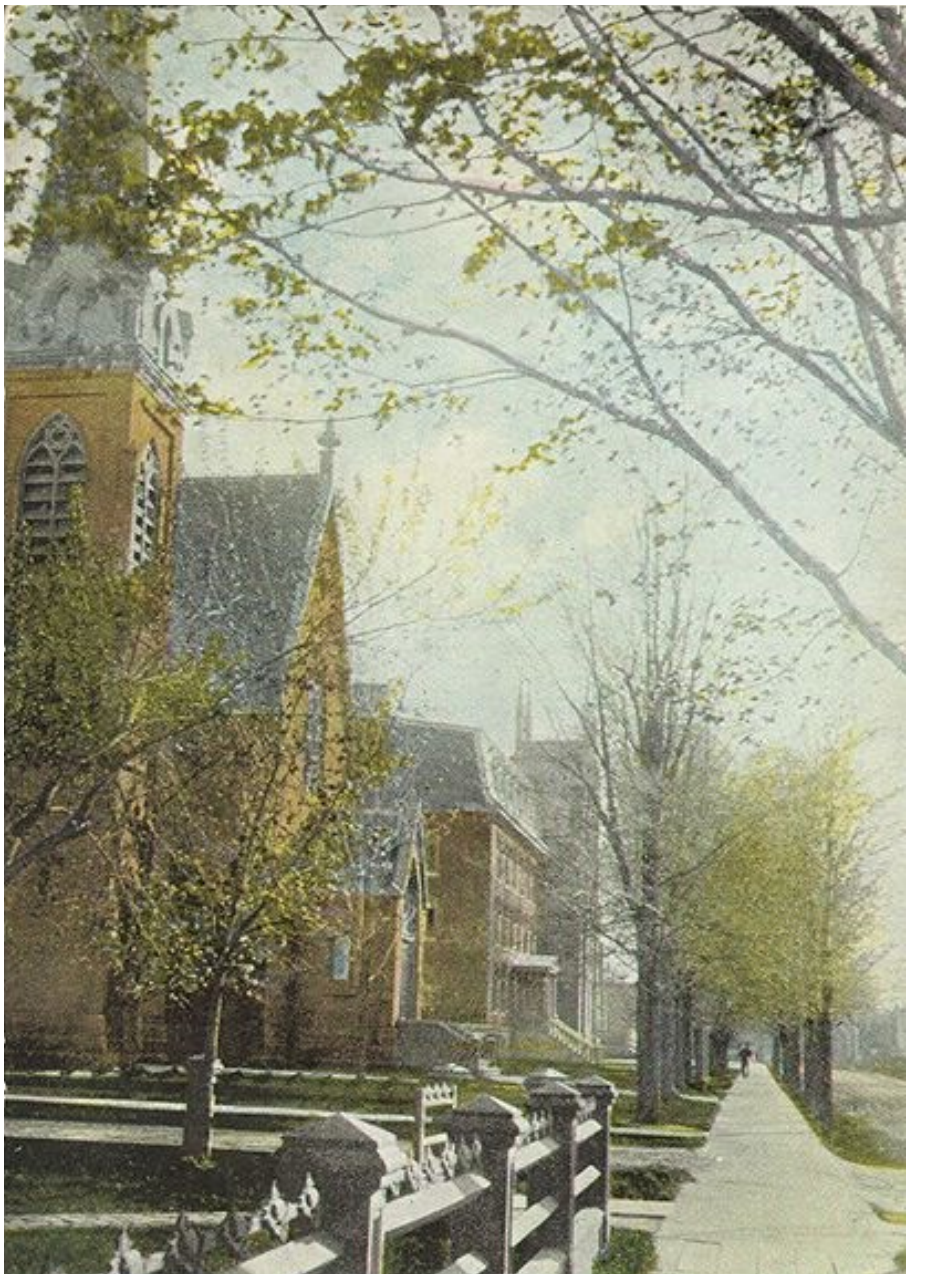

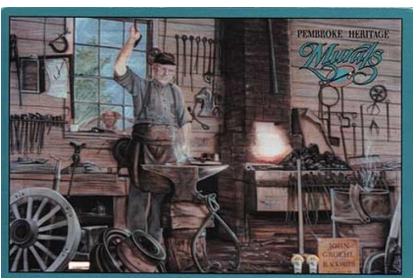

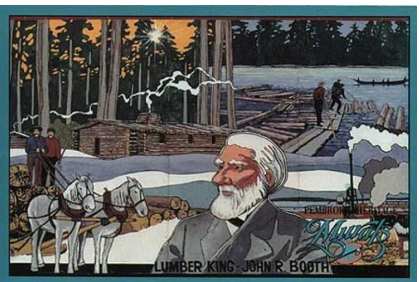

(Waterfront Park) The Portage Sundial was installed in 2007 featuring a wrought iron sculpture of a canoeist making a portage over logs and granite. The logs serve as the hour indicators, and the star tip of the canoe is the gnomon. One of the most unique sundials in Canada, it was designed by local artist Barbara Blackstein with the assistance of her husband, Fred.

8 The Portage Sundial

Champlain traveled this river in the 1600s. Log booms were a common sight from the mid 1850s to the early 1980s. Today, the Ottawa River is used by pleasure crafts and fishermen. Allumette Island, Quebec is across from Pembroke. It is about 25 miles long and 7 miles wide with the Laurentian Mountains beyond. Three bridges over Cotnam's Island, Morrison Island and Allumette Island built in 1958, connect Pontiac County, QC and Renfrew County, ON at Pembroke.

7 The Ottawa River

Renfrew Street, Pembroke ON

@cityofpembroke

The City of Pembroke

@CityPembroke

9 Cockburn Pointer Boat Monument

(Waterfront Park) Constructed in 1993 as a joint project of the Ottawa Valley Historical Society and the City of Pembroke, it pays tribute to the historical significance of the Cockburn Pointer Boat to Canadians. It is located on the original property of John Cockburn's boat building business. The dedication ceremony took place on September 22, 1993 with the Duke of York, Prince Andrew, attending.

10 Murray L. Moore Hydro Museum

(283 Pembroke Street West)
This complex was built (1928-30) over the original substation which was constructed in 1903. In 1929 the new building was opened, housing Canada's largest stationary diesel.

Today, it is the focal point of the Hydro Museum and open to the public during office hours. Contents in the Museum date back to 1884 when Pembroke boasts of having the first commercial street light and one of Canada's first electricity generating stations. Come out for a visit and check this historic site for yourself!

11 Churches of Pembroke

- St. Columbkille's Cathedral (188 Renfrew St.)

- Holy Trinity Anglican Church (68 Renfrew St.)

- Calvin United Church (276 Church St.)

12 Pembroke Public Library

(237 Victoria Street) Built in 1914 by the Kehoe Bros.,

Architect Francis C. Sullivan who studied under renowned Frank Lloyd Wright. The original cost was $18,500 with a Carnegie Grant of $14,900.

13 Alexander Moffat House

(247 Victoria Street) This white structure was built by one of Pembroke's first pioneers, Alexander Moffat. Moffat was Pembroke's first postmaster and an extensive mill owner. From 1929 to 1947, it was the home of Col. Mackie, a former Canadian Ambassador to Russia.

14 Victoria Hall

(42 Renfrew Street) Built in 1884, this was the original town hall. It has also been used as a Police Station and Fire Hall. It was the first municipal building in Canada with electric lighting. The current Fire Hall is located at the rear of the building. The main building is operated as a Senior Citizens' Drop In Centre.

15 Harry Irwin House

(49 Renfrew Street) Built in 1891, this house has unusual decorative brick around the windows. Mr. Irwin had a jewellery store downtown, and he was the official watch repairman for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

16 Thomas Pink Home

(36 Isabella Street) Built in 1883 by Thomas Pink, founder of Thomas Pink Co. Ltd. The company manufactured tools for the lumber industry, farmers and blacksmiths for the Canadian and European markets.

17 Mary Street Bridge

Originally a foot bridge, it was reconstructed in 1887 at a cost of $4,530.97. A view of Pansy Patch Park, an island in the Muskrat river, can be seen from here.

19 Arunah Dunlop Residence

(329 Mackay Street) Built by Arunah Dunlop, father of

Hon. E.A. Dunlop in 1880. Note the use of many verandahs and the tiered effect, like a wedding cake. It is now an apartment block.

20 Lockhart Residence

162 Esther Street at Mackay Street) J.W. Munro built this is 1897 as a wedding gift for his daughter Isabella, who married James Lockhart – Justice of the Peace. Note the turret design.

21 Cenotaph Memorial Park

(Corner of Mackay Street and Pembroke Street East)

A memorial to all who died in WWI, WWII and the Korean Conflict. Annual services conducted by the Royal Canadian Legion branch 72 are held on November 11th.

22 The Old Rowan Stone House

(156 Mackay Street) Built by Joseph Rowan about 1850 in order to lodge his men who worked in the sawmill across from (the now) City Hall. Three storeys, it has thick stone walls, originally 14 rooms, 2 large living rooms and a kitchen with a fireplace; the house was heated by box stoves.

18 Grey Gables

(353 Mackay Street) This magnificent structure was the home of the Hon. E.A.

Dunlop, lumber baron and former Treasurer of Ontario. It is adjacent to Dunlop Park which he maintained for many years. It now operates as a bed and breakfast inn.

City Hall

1 Pembroke Street East

(613) 735-6821

www.pembroke.ca

pembroke@pembroke.ca

Parks & Recreation Department

393 Pembroke Street West

(613) 735-6821 ext. 1501

recreation@pembroke.ca

Murray L. Moore Hydro Museum

283 Pembroke Street West

(613) 732-3687

Pembroke.ca